

Unclaimed Property

The provinces of Quebec, Alberta and British Columbia have introduced regulations which set out specific responsibilities for the administration of “Unclaimed Property” if the last known address of the owner of the property was within one of these provinces. The legislation is designed to ensure that all reasonable efforts are made to return "Unclaimed Property to its owner. Unclaimed Property can include cash, stocks, bonds, mutual funds or other receivables held in client accounts at Nour Private Wealth Inc. (NPW), without recent activity (3 years), where the current location of the client is not known to us and the last known address is in one of Quebec, Alberta or British Columbia. NPW will maintain a database of accounts which may hold Unclaimed Property. The following provides specific information for each of these provinces and the rest of Canada.

Alberta

The province of Alberta has established a service for residents who have lost track of property as a result of business or personal circumstances. To access the service’s website, please click here: <https://unclaimedproperty.alberta.ca/publicTracs/searchUnclaimedProperty.do?event=init>

British Columbia

The province of British Columbia has regulations that require holders of unclaimed property, where the current or last known address of the owner is in British Columbia, to make reasonable efforts to contact the owners and advise them of their unclaimed assets. In addition, the province has established an unclaimed property program to assist residents with recovering unclaimed property.
